Judge McCabe also wired the Attorney-General at the Richmond jail to-day asking that while getting out papers under charge of a deputy marshal, had gone up there. The October term of the Henrico County Court began yesterday. There was no grand jury, and there are but few cases for trial in which there is felt any general interest.

Judge Minor, after hearing a few civil cases, adjourned the court over until this morning, when the case of W. A. Cleveland, charged with promiscuous shooting in the public roads of the county, is set for trial.

Cleveland is a resident of Goochland county and is a hardworking, peaceable, and law-abiding citizen. He was on a spree when he did the shooting.

The October number of the New-England Historical and Geneological Journal, Boston, Masse, in an editorial has this to say of a well-known citizen of Kichmond:

"Mr. Kobert A. Brock, who has filled the office of corresponding secretary of the Virgina Historical Society with distinguished ability and great usefulness for several years past, has recently been elected secretary of the Southern Historical Society, to succeed Dr. J. William Jones, who has removed from Richmond. All students of American history have long been indebted to Mr. Brock for his editorial labors on the publications of the Virginia Historical Society, for his own historical writings, and for his unfailing courtesy and constant services to his numerous correspondents. The Southern Historical Society is to be congratulated on his election."

To the Editor of the Dispatch:

Hundreds of our people are anxiously and impatiently watching the papers hoping to see that the cadets will be with us to take part in the ceremonies on the 27th instant.

As yet nothing definite is known. Other military organizations throughout the country have been heard from and will be represented. Why not have the corps of cadets come? Remember, 'twas in Lexington that great and good man died, and that there he is buried. Two large private excursion parties arrived here from the North yesterday—one by the Chesapeake and Ohio road, the other by New York steamer. Most of the former are New England people, and they included Gettysburg, Luray Caverns, and the Natural Bridge in their route. They are stopping at Ford's. The latter are from New York and Brooklyn and have quarters at the man died, and that there he is buried. Nothing should prevent the corps from that place coming to aid in the laying of the corner-stone of the monument to his memory.
